1. Secondary syphilis
2. In secondary syphilis, papillae (rashes) often appear on the mucous membranes of the mouth – on the lips, tongue, palate, and tonsils. These generally do not bother the infected individual. Infected people at this time are very contagious as their saliva has the agent of syphilis – pale spirochetal
3. Syphilitic papillae on the lips
4. Syphilitic papillae on the tongue