Translation:

1. Look! How many ghosts are there in China who died unjustly. On average one to 2 deaths every minute.

2. In counties where public health is developed, the annual mortality rate should be no more than 15 per 1000 persons. The mortality rate of our country is 30 per 1000 persons. In comparison, there are 15 extra deaths, that is, 15 persons die unjustly. If there are 15 unjust deaths per 1000 persons, there are 150 persons every 10 thousand. In the four million people of our country, there are 6 million unjust deaths. If public health is developed, these 6 million per year who could otherwise survive are called “ghosts who died unjustly.”

3. Every year.
4. Every month
5. Every day
6. Every hour
7. Every minute
